Newsletter

Greetings, KiaOra and Talofa

In our previous newsletter I commented on the fact that our senior students would be leaving us to go on study leave for the external examinations and reminded parents to join us in the celebration of the successes of our students at our senior prize-giving event. Since then, study leave has taken place, the last of the senior exams are over and the year has largely ended for our year 11, 12 and 13 students. For those returning next year, subject selection has been finalised and timetabling arrangements are being made at present.

The senior prize giving was a wonderful event enjoyed by all who attended. The celebration was about publicly acknowledging the achievements of our senior students in the presence of their peers, families, whanau, members of the communities in which they live and their teachers. Their successes in classrooms, on the sporting fields and in cultural pursuits were extensive and numerous and they had every reason to feel proud as they had earned the right to do so. I extend my congratulations to all our award and prize-winners in the senior and junior school.

As always, we are deeply appreciative and grateful to all our sponsors, friends, coaches/managers of teams, volunteers and parents for your ongoing contributions to the college. It is because of all of your efforts and contributions that the college continues to be a good place to be.

Permanent staff not returning next year are Temma Price, (physical education/health), who leaves for her O/E and Donna Devaroe, (TIC dance), who has decided not to return to teaching, at this stage, in order to be a full-time mother. Thanks to them and all other staff who have been on fixed-term contracts for the 2008 school year.

I would, finally, like to take this opportunity to wish all members of the Taita College community a Merry Christmas and a safe and happy new year. We look forward to meeting you next year.

Junior Outreach Day at Victoria University

On 10 November a group of 18 science students was selected from Years 9 and 10 to attend a Junior Outreach Programme at Victoria University in Wellington. The programme was an opportunity to explore chemistry and physics through hands-on science activities. The goal was to encourage a student's interest in science and show how science is all around them every day and in many ways.

The students explored hydrogel in nappies and learned why you should never put salt into a used one. Some hands were dyed amazing colours while making flubber and polymers were used in creating 2 metre long rubber worms. There were also plates of milk with swirling colours, invisible acid writing, and students getting their hands full in a large tub of oobleck! When the chemistry was finished, the physics department had the students pedalling to generate electricity, wiring circuits and investigating the use of magnets in generators. Students saw how to boil water using a magnetic field and how liquid nitrogen is used in ceramic super conductors that are being made right here in New Zealand.

The day was a great success with all of the students having lots of fun, laughs and shhhh...even some learning! We are looking forward to taking a new group of students to the event again next year.

SCIENCE TEXT BOOKS

Could all year 11, 12 and 13 students please search at home and in bags for any science, biology, physics or chemistry text books that may have been "accidentally" taken home for the purposes of exam study.

We need all books to be returned to school before the end of this term. If books are not returned the person they were issued to will be invoiced for the full replacement cost for the book.

The Taita Tuatara Connection

Jonathan Hall (left) and Ethan Fairbrother (right) were given an opportunity to touch Spike and felt his cold and surprisingly soft skin.

Spike, a Stephen's Island tuatara, began his life in an incubator at Victoria University and became a surprise guest for some science students at Taita College. Sue Keall, Spike's handler, an ex-student of Taita College, is a research technician at Victoria University's tuatara research and breeding programme. Sue provided a few lucky students with the chance to get up close to New Zealand's oldest living reptile. Sue gave a presentation to students about the research being done and then the guest of honour made his appearance.

At 22 years of age Spike is a mature male and an essential part of the university's breeding programme. While Spike could live past the age of 100, the students learned that New Zealand's most famous reptile is in danger of becoming extinct due to loss of habitat and predators. More information on the effort to protect this wonderful animal can be found at <http://www.kcc.org.nz/animals/tuatara/conservation.asp>.

Wearable Arts in Hutt Valley – WAIV

This year an initial cache of 10 interested students was quickly whittled down by self-selection to one committed student when it became apparent that without a technology teacher, (Ms Tracy was on leave), this would be a huge commitment of personal time and energy.

This dedicated student was Nejima Gabose. Nejima stuck to her task of designing, sewing and completing her costume in the Masked Mayhem section. She went from a non-sewer, to a sewer who sewed a complete ball gown, using two stunning fabrics and a zip that she had chosen herself. Nejima has a great sense of design and style and will be a student whose progress will be worth following in the future.

Despite not gaining a prize, Nejima gave it her best shot. Taita College wishes to acknowledge and thank Metallion Ltd for its generous assistance with metal shavings and wire netting which helped Nejima enormously when she came to design her collar, mask and top hat. The tour and guidance by Metallion helped to give Nejima a greater appreciation of the qualities of metal, along with the safety requirements.

Thanks also go to the very professional, talented and reliable model, Natasha McAllister.

Nejima put in many hours of weekend and holiday time and her persistent effort will be its own reward – the pleasure of having completed her own personal challenge and having seen it through to a satisfactory completion.

Beachside Dance Performance

On 24 October, the 12 students doing NCEA Level 1 Dance performed their final assessment task for the year. They have been working very hard for the last term on developing a performance item entitled "Beachside".

Each group of students choreographed dance movement using the beach and sea as inspiration, looking at activities you might see at the beach, journeys across the sea, motions of the waves and the power of the sea in a storm. The dancers explored everything from the entertainment on a cruise ship to sea creatures you might see underwater.

Both groups came up with interesting and creative dance pieces and performed them with confidence and style. The students of 3F really enjoyed the performances and were a great audience. Congratulations to all of the year 11 dance students who have put in a fantastic effort this year and really made me proud.

House Finale and House Shield...the winner is

In the last week of Term 3, the Houses came out into brilliant sunshine for the final House event for 2008. From the fine colours and costumes it was clear all meant fun and business. And why not? Any one of Narraway, Jamieson or Bear Houses was in a position to win the overall House Competition, while Charles House was keen to win its first trophy in 2008, the House Finale Shield.

After the visual spectacular of the Bear-coloured bumble bee and fairies, the Charles-coloured afro wearing sporting stars, the Jamieson lifeguards and the Narraway-coloured Callum Stinson ensemble had been absorbed, the judges - Mrs Pye, Mrs Kelly, Mrs Marsden and Mr Ballantyne - tensed noticeably, knowing how closely fought the final event of 2008 was likely to be. And so it proved.

Narraway took first points, comfortably winning the three-legged bucket filling race, from the dead-heating Charles and Jamieson Houses.

Bear and Jamieson immediately fought back in the next two events - the raw egg catching contest and the "prestigious" Taita College spaghetti relay. After the bush lawyers in each House had provided a highly creative and good humoured examination of the legal niceties of whether "egg catching" could include "egg dropping" and/or "egg bouncing" provided the egg stayed intact, or whether spaghetti included the sauce surrounding the spaghetti, it was Bear House who just beat Jamieson in both events, for them both to close in on Narraway's over-all lead.

The final event of the Finale, the House Tug of War, was in the first week of Term 4. Charles House took 3rd placing from Jamieson with the final of the Tug of War between Bear and Narraway Houses. Before the final, the bush lawyers were again busy with Narraway implementing the clever, and lawful, "special shoes on their anchor man Ricky Wardlaw" interpretation of the rules. Whether this had swung the result will no doubt remain the subject of debate in the years ahead, but after a seesaw final, it was Narraway members who were the delighted House Tug of War Champions for 2008.

However, Narraway's Tug of War win could not stop Bear winning the House Finale Shield, Bear thereby joining Jamieson and Narraway with 2 trophies each in 2008. Charles House leaders continued to impress all by leading from the front with good cheer despite a difficult year. But which House had won the main prize for the year, the House Shield? In a close three-way finish with points totalled for the year, it was the Bradley Shields led Narraway House, with 6,589 points that had won the House Competition for 2008. The fast finishing Bear House on 6,308 points, just pipped Jamieson on 6171 pts for second, with the 2007 runner up, Charles, having to settle for 4th in 2008.

Congratulations Narraway.... best House for 2008!!!!.

Of course congratulations and thanks to all members of all Houses who participated so well in a good spirited 2008 competition, and to their House leaders, senior students and staff who fronted for their Houses throughout the entire year. I am sure your energy, chanting, fun costumes and good humour will see you fondly remembered by your junior House members when they look back on their 2008 year at Taita College.

Year 12 Rafting Trip

On 29 October and 5 November ten of our year 12 physical education students were involved in a rafting trip at Otaki. This opportunity was part of their year 12 course and gave the students a chance to gain credits towards NCEA level 2.

This year there were two boats: one with a crew of 7 and the other with a crew of five. Needless to say the crew with less horse-power demonstrated some interesting times in the second boat. George Bower tried to kiss a rock which left teachers and students in tears of laughter. There was singing, splashing and looks of pure shock as people hit the cold water. By the end of the day each student had completed a rescue, capsize and a float down the rapids. Then the tired crew had a quick debrief and drove back to Taita.

On 5 November it was the same again, except with the added bonus of a food stop on the way home. Well done to all those who took part and I hope you all took something away from the experience. A special thanks also to Pete from the Kapiti Skills Centre for his skills and guidance down the river.

Junior Golf 2008

This year several year 10 students were given the opportunity to learn to play golf with a professional golf coach at the Golf Warehouse Hutt Park. The coach gave his time at a considerably reduced rate. The criteria for joining the group was that they had not played golf before but wanted to learn. Some dropped out during the year owing to other commitments or from just finding out that it wasn't what they wanted to do. However, four students stuck with the game and have all become proficient golfers.

It is my intention to make the same offer again to year 10 and year 11 students, early next year. The maximum number will be 12 (a mix of girls and boys) but the details of cost and days still have to be worked out. A meeting will be called for students early in the new term when a letter will be sent home with the details.

If there are any questions or offers of help please contact me at school.

Taking the right step against bullies

Students are getting more information about a life event that can have a serious impact at school: bullying.
WAYNE ERB reports.

While life at school is enjoyable for most students, some suffer bullying and it can take many forms.

Students at Porirua's Rangikura School, which has a zero-tolerance policy for bullying, will tell you that it can range from physical intimidation to rude comments on a child's personal website. These students aren't keeping their thoughts to themselves – they've shared their views on what constitutes bullying and how to deal with it in a fold-out pocket card, facilitated by the Ministry of Education and sent out to schools.

The Step Up, Be Safe (Be Proud) resource was written for students by students, including those at Rangikura who took part in discussions with ministry staff (two students even came up with the name).

"It's all about a safe and healthy environment for our kids. Stepping up is the key word there and kids are encouraged to report it." said teacher Jason Maraku.

School Fees Prize

The families of Stephanie Mackley and Matthew Edmonds each receive a $100 Westfield voucher for paying their fees.

One of these families has always had an automatic payment to pay its fees with Taita College. The other family had only just paid its fees in the week of the draw.

Thank you to all the families who have paid their activity fees and associated costs to the college this year. These funds allow the school to provide opportunities to students that would not always be available to them, eg sponsoring students to participate at regional/national level for their chosen sport, cultural and academic activities are among the many opportunities offered to the students.

If you wish to start an automatic payment to pay for next year's fees gradually over the forthcoming year, please contact Mrs Kelly on extension 205.

Cheap Advert Opportunity

The magazine team needs money to help to buy a new computer program for magazine production. We have been thinking of ways to raise funds.

Our idea is to offer sponsorship on the footer of a newsletter page. We are offering this opportunity to the parents/caregivers in the newsletter. It would be $25 for something along the lines:
